PROBABLE CAUSE STATEMENT

On June 17, 2008, Border Patrol Agent A. Mendoza was performing assigned duties in the Campo Border Patrol Station area of responsibility. At approximately 7:30 p.m., Agent Mendoza was advised of a citizen's report of 15 suspected undocumented aliens in an area located approximately 20 miles east of the Tecate, California Port of Entry and approximately 3 miles north of the United States/Mexico International Boundary.

Agent Mendoza responded to the area and after a brief search encountered eight individuals attempting to hide in the brush. Agent Mendoza identified himself as a United States Border Patrol Agent and questioned each individual as to their citizenship and nationality. All eight individuals, including one later identified as the defendant Marino CANETE-Ramirez, admitted to being citizens of Mexico without any documentation that would allow them to be in or remain legally in the United States. All eight were placed under arrest and transported to the station for further processing.

Routine record checks of the defendant revealed a criminal and immigration history. The defendant's record was determined by a comparison of his criminal record and the defendant's current fingerprint card. Official immigration records of the Department of Homeland Security revealed the defendant was previously deported to Mexico on March 19, 2007 through San Ysidro, California. These same records show that the defendant has not applied for permission from the Attorney General of the United States or his designated successor, the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security, to return to the United States after being removed.

The defendant was advised of his Miranda Rights and was willing to make a statement without an attorney present. The defendant stated he is a citizen and national of Mexico and that he does not possess any documents allowing him to enter or to remain in the United States legally.
